MENTORSHIP IMPACT: SPOTLIGHT ON STEVE NDEKE

Meet Steve Ndeke, a skilled Software Developer who's come a long way since he joined our mentorship program. Hailing from a modest background in Likoni, Mombasa, Steve faced numerous challenges growing up. Through mentorship, he found new perspectives on life and opportunities that transformed him personally and professionally.

What's truly inspiring is how these changes have positively affected his family. With his newfound skills and a stable income, Steve has lightened the financial burdens his family once carried. They now enjoy improved living conditions, access to education, and hope for a brighter future. His story beautifully illustrates the impact of personal growth on the well-being of a family, which ultimately contributes to a stronger and more prosperous community.

MARK ALLEN MEETS THE PRESIDENT OF THE REPUBLIC OF KENYA

On July 19, 2023, Mark Allen of Teach2Give was invited to the Kenyan State House. Accompanied by top-tier executives from the Business Processing Outsourcing (BPO) sector, they convened with President William Ruto to deliberate on the promising potential of the BPO industry in catalyzing employment growth nationwide.

Teach2Give's pivotal role was highlighted as they were commended for their insightful decision to initiate their efforts in the Mount Kenya Region rather than the more commonly targeted Nairobi. The initiative has garnered acclaim for its innovative training paradigm in the mentorship of Kenyan university graduates.

President Ruto expressed his enthusiasm upon learning about the numerous students who have prospered under Teach2Give's guidance. It's evident that the Kenyan leadership recognizes the transformative power of such programs and remains resolute in its commitment to bolstering their expansion.
